Services

- Previsualization - creative development
- On-set visualization - creative management
- Post-visualization - post guidance
- Green Screen
- Motion Capture

Based upon a proprietary and unique combination of the previsualization techniques and technologies used on films like Gravity, Avatar and others, the Virtual Stage at Park City Film Studios is an effects stage like none other.

The integrated technologies provide fast and continuous visualization of CGI elements that typically could not be seen until well into post-production. With the right preparation, numerous shots can be completed "live in camera".
